

Please leave the no call list alone. When I come home the last thing I want is to talk to someone that's trying to sell something to me. It's my time and I want it to be that way now and forever.